

Chapter 26 Set # 2 Moral and Legal Control

1. In order for a system to thrive, it needs a(n):

- A. president
- B. goal
- C. aversive consequence
- D. A and B
- E. None of the above

2-5. Matching: Use each answer one time.

- A. value
- B. goal-directed systems design
- C. moral (ethical) rule control
- D. legal rule control

2. First you select the ultimate goal of a system, then you select the various levels of intermediate goals needed to accomplish that ultimate goal, and finally, you select the initial goals needed to accomplish those intermediate goals

3. Control by rules specifying added analogs to behavioral contingencies. Such rules specify social, religious, or supernatural outcomes.

4. Learned and unlearned reinforcers and aversive conditions.

5. Control by rules specifying added analogs to behavioral contingencies and added direct-acting behavioral contingencies based on material outcomes.

6-7. Matching: Use each answer one time.

- A. legal control
- B. moral control

6. When society care about the outcome of a behavior and the behavior is NOT observable, society uses _____.

7. When society care about the outcome of a behavior and the behavior IS observable, society uses _____.

8. T/F Mentalism is the doctrine that the mind causes behavior to occur.

9. T/F Mentalists believe that the mind causes us to behave.

10. T/F Radical behaviorists approach and address all psychology in terms of the principles of behavior.